In XYZ Company Ltd, there were 1000 workers working in the factory. Total number of employees in the company were 1400. During work, one of the workers, Sohan, hurt himself while working on the welding machine. He was not wearing the glasses. This was despite the fact that it was written very clearly in three different languages on the wall that every worker need to wear glasses while working on welding machine. During the welding process, flame sparks touched Sohan's right eye and damaged the eye heavily. Sohan was rushed to hospital immediately. The doctors treated him. All the expenses of treatment were borne by the employer. Sohan had to be admitted in hospital for 20 days. But the doctors could not save his eye. Sohan lost his right eye. He was discharged from the hospital and was advised a rest for another 15 days. The workers' union demanded full wages for Sohan for all the 35 days (20 days while Sohan was in hospital and on 15 days of the advised rest). Union also demanded five lakh compensation and reinstatement of Sohan at a position where welding work was not involved. This was despite the fact that Sohan did not have experience and knowledge of any other kind of work.
